Vol. 33 BARIUM SPRINGS, N. C., DECEMBER 1955 No. 12

Letters Go Out To Santa Claus

The jolly old gentleman who resides at the North Pole gets a lot of mail every year and everyone at Barium Springs writes his letter. Requests have been made for dolls and guns and skates and clothes and toys and bow and arrows, boots and sweaters, clocks and watches and pens and cowboy suits and football suits and basketballs and volley balls and doll beds and doll clothes and costume jewelry and toppers and footlockers and all the other things that flood the minds and hearts of those who write the letters. And these things are coming! We know they are coming because Santa Claus has never failed. On Christmas eve every cottage receives its gifts from Santa Claus for the boys and girls of that cottage and on Christmas Day the tree is surrounded with the beautifully wrapped packages, dolls, bunnies, and bears and carriages - things that have been asked for. So there is no way to convince anyone at Barium Springs that there is not a genuine Spirit of Christmas and that their letter has been the means of bringing to them the things they wanted. Yes, and in addition to this, in the dining room there will be special ice cream and fruit and nuts and cakes. In the Christmas Fund there will be Christmas money sent for particular boys and girls, some sent to share with other boys and girls, sent to buy something that is needed at Christmastime. Also, there will be gifts to cottages - a television set or two television sets - and recreation equipment and other good things.

Christmas Day will begin with an early Christmas morning service and after that a Christmas breakfast with hot coffee, doughnuts, fruit juice, and hot cocoa, and something special and good in the dining room. Then this year the boys and girls have decided that they would like to go to Sunday School and Church, have Christmas dinner, and have the tree after dinner. They can then spend all their time with their things for the rest of Christmas Day. This plan will be followed and if we do not all explode with enthusiasm and excitement before the Christmas Day settles into the dusk of the evening, the pillows will receive the heads of tired but happy children who have been remembered in love and have been thrilled by the genuine goodwill at Christmastime.

Boys Attend Shrine Bowl Game

Thirty-six boys were the guests of the Shriners and friends in Charlotte for the annual Shrine Bowl game. Mr. R. P. Steffey, spokesman for the group, had extended the invitation for the boys to be present as special guests, and he and his associates certainly made it a grand occasion.

The buses parked on Independence boulevard adjacent to the stadium. Grand seats were provided and lunches for everyone in the group. The thrill of the contest and the pageantry before, during and after the game is something never to be forgotten.

When the game was concluded the police escort gave the bus the right of way through town, dodging the heavy traffic and carrying them to a special parking place, and a wonderful supper at the S & W Cafeteria. Each boy was sent down the line to choose anything he wanted, as much as he wanted, as long as he wanted it, and the bill was taken care of by friends.

For a thrilling day and an experience to be cherished in memory for life, this occasion stands out as one of the great events that comes to any of the children at Barium Springs.

Family Night Opens Yule Season

The big family tree and the big red stockings have become symbols for the beginning of the Christmas season at Barium Springs. Every member of the big family of Barium Springs, the members of the staff, the children of the cottages, and the families on the campus, come together in the large dining room for a time of family fellowship. A delightful meal is served in the decorated dining room, and in the center a large unadorned Christmas tree stands waiting for its Christmas dress.

When the meal has been finished the family joins in the singing of carols in candlelight while everyone makes his way to the tree to place in the big red stocking his gift for someone else. The nickels, dimes, quarters, and dollars fall into the stocking and a piece of tinsel or tree ornament is then placed on the tree by the person who has made the gift. As this procession ends, the tree then stands beautifully decorated and the stockings bulge with the offering of the family and someone's Christmas is assured because of the love and affection of those who have made the gift. With all lights out in the din-

Campbell Voted Most Valuable Player

(From The Statesville Record & Landmark of Nov. 30)

Tackle Jim Campbell, a 186-pound senior, was announced last night as Barium Springs' Most Valuable Player award winner at the annual gridioron banquet held on the Presbyterian campus.

Campbell, a bulwark in the Barium forward wall, was elected by his teammates in an election Tuesday and was announced by Coach R G Calboun at last night's banquet attended by all of Barium's football players, members of the faculty and Barium Sprngs staff and special guest.s

The Tornado varsity squad also elected Guard Ronnie Hudgins as permanent captain of the team. Barium uses various boys as game captains throughout the season with a permanent captain elected at the end of the season.

The awards followed a delicious steak dinner and preceded a film presentation of the Statesville-Barium Springs football game played on October 7 in which the Tornadoes defeated the Greyhouns, 13-7, in their traditional battle.

Referring to the Statesville-Barium game, Calhoun related that his boys took the 7-0 lead and then "sorta let up." Statesville tied the game with three minutes to go.

"That was one of the darkest moments in my life all season," Calhoun said, referring to the point where the Greyhounds came from behind to tie the game. Barium won the decision with a long pass play late in the game.

Calhoun said he hated to see his varsity boys departing this year, "especially some of those big boys."

Charles Creech will graduate along with both first-string tackles, Jim Campbell and Ernest Austin, Guard James Harwell, a defensive standout, Center Fred Lentz, and a pair of first-string backfield aces. Boyce Dean Smith and Ralph Joyner also will end their prep careers at Barium this year.

Clayton Miller, senior manager, also will be graduating.

Other Barium Springs varsity members receiving their letters last night at the completion of another season were Bob Bailey, James Ramsey, James Woodall, Peyton Miller, LeNair Burns, Lawton Rice, Ronnie Hudgins, Charles Ward, and Walter Plyler.

NEWS FROM SOME OF THE COTTAGES AT BARIUM

Infirmary

It has been a long time since you heard from us but we are still here.

We are nearing the Christmas season now and the spirit on our campus is at its highest peak. The young children in the Elementary grades will be traveling to Davidson College December 12 for a Christmas party given annually by the boys there.

Now that cold weather really moved in we are having trouble keeping the colds cleared up but we hope to have all the children well by the time Santa pays his visit.

Our little garden that was growing at the edge of the porch during the summer, did so well we at the Infirmary are still eating tomatoes we picked green before it turned cold.

The seniors get a week off after Christmas and all we've heard for the past two months are Nellie's plans for the holidays. She never tires of talking about that.

We had a group of Girl Scouts up to visit us from Charlotte on December 11, and they gave us a wonderful program of music which everyone enjoyed very much.

We've been getting a lot of new children in the past two weeks. We had a family from Pinetops, N. C. We hope they will grow to love our home as much as we do and will soon

FROM THE PRESS BOX

by JERRY JOSEY

(From The Statesville Record & Landmark of November 22)

We thought football season in Iredell county ended with the Scotts-Clemmons Six-Man Western North Carolina playoff game here last Friday night in the Statesville High School Stadium.

But we were sadly mistaken.

The two top "games" of the year were reeled off on Sloan Field, Barium Springs, yesterday afternoon.

It was the annual day for the youngsters to take over the proceedings.

And it is quite a sight to behold when you see youngsters barely able to carry the weight that a football uniform comes to, including the helment, romp around on the gridiron like veterans at the King of Fall Sports.

Coach R. G. Calhoun, veteran Barium Springs pigskin producer on the Presbyterian campus, had his youngsters geared to a high pitch yesterday afternoon against a pair of teams from Charlotte.

The youngsters, hitting the scales at under 100 pounds, produced the best laughs during the afternoon and also added quite a bit of excellent football at the same time.

Young Charlie McLean was the "star" for the under-100-pounders yesterday afternoon. Charlie ripped off three long touchdown jaunts as Barium grabbed a 21-0 victory over the Country Day School or something on that order, a private school in the Charlotte area. But the name of the two teams playing means little to this column today.

McLean turned in a piece of broken field running that few college players and including quite a few professional gridders could match. That came on a 65-yard punt return for a touchdown.

McLean took the punt, angled toward the sidelines in front of the Barium student body, sidestepped several would-be enemy tacklers and headed down the sidelines.

But several green-helmeted Charlotte defenders angled him off down the side. A key Barium block was thrown, and McLean quickly swivel-hipped his way back through the onrushing defenders and blockers, picked out his holes beautifully and sprinted on down the field on one of the best pieces of broken field running that we have witnessed this season . . . and we have seen quite a few football games during the months of September, October, and November . . . some we had rather forget about.

McLean's three touchdowns in the first game of the two scheduled quickly told a story that is well-known at Barium The youngsters love football . . .and, although Barium dosen't have the potential student body that some other schools in the Class AA ranks have upon which to draw their football players, they have managed to produce a record that shows that quality of players instead of the volume pays off.

When you witness a group of youngsters that come onto a football field, several with over-size pants held together with a string to take care of the extra space that the human part doesn't fill, you can't help but wonder what is behind it all.

Barium has long been known for their never-say-die fighting spirit. It is a tradition at the Presbyterian campus that has held true for a long time, and will probably be holding true to form for a long time to come

We especially got a big kick out of one play during the afternoon. A Barium youngster cut loose for a long run and would had gone all the way but for one fact.

The little fellow had his heart in it and ran as hard as he could. But the harder he ran and seemingly faster he was running perhaps to himself, the slower he was moving down the field.

He was running his heart out. He wasn't looking back over his shoulder to see if anyone was pursuing him, but he kept a steady eye toward the goal-line and gave it all he had.

Although he didn't make the TD on that run, what more could you ask for. The youngster was giving all he had and doing his best, striving harder with every stride to better his team's efforts.

That, to us, tells the story of football at Barium Springs. A group of youngsters getting an early start and that same group will be the players on the varsity in the future, and will be helping the younger generation at Barium as the present varsity squad has done throughout the season at the Presbyterian campus this season.

We failed to pick up all the names of the Barium players yesterday afternoon. As a matter of fact, we did not plan to even write an article on the game. But after a little thinking, we figured it would be a good idea to let others know what we had seen.

But we will add this . . . remember the names of Charlie McLean and Howard Cox, mark them down, they will probably be the future standouts on the gridiron at Barium Springs.

Fighting spirit! That will long be a traditional trademark of the Presbyterian campus. We witnessed the insertion of that tradition on a group of youngsters yesterday and believe you me, this column believes that it will hold true to form for generations to come.

UNDER THE STEEPLE – Nuggets of News

From Little Joe's Church

ROBERT R. COLLINS, Minister

Christmas is a time when people share gifts with those whom they love. It is also a time when we share with those whose hearts need a reminder that someone still cares. Parents often sacrifice in order that their children may have that "special something". Piggy banks are emptied and allowances are stretched so that Mother and Dad will find under the tree, gifts wrapped with awkward and painful efforts to express a love that only a child can bestow upon a parent.

And all of this is rightly so. For it was the love of our heavenly Father which made possible the first Christmas Gift. That One who was "wrapped in swaddling clothes, and laid in a manger", He is the Greatest Gift. As the angels announced to Joseph, "you shall call his name, Jesus, for he will save his people from their sins." (Matt. 1:21).

It is right, too, that we should respond as grateful children of our heavenly Father by bringing our gifts and devotion to His Son. This was what the shepherds and wise men did of old, and their example has not been improved upon down through the centuries.

But let us be honest with ourselves. In all of the rush and confusion of the season have you actually thought of what you will present to the Saviour on His birthday? Can you say with sincerity that you have pondered in your heart the question. "What gift can I bring that will be pleasing to Him?"

Under the Steeple we have been planning and thinking about our gifts to Christ. It seems to us that those who went to the manger that first Christmas have shown us the way. So, like the wise men, we too will bring our material gifts. Not "gold and frankincense and myrrh" to be sure, but treasures none-the-less. For when we gather about the big Christmas tree in the dining room of the Home, little hands and large will place pennies, nickles, dimes and dollars in the Christmas stocking. Then a bit of tinsel to brighten the tree, and our gifts will go to brighten the hearts of some one we have chosen to remember in the name of Christ on His birthday.

But we shall also come in the manner of the shepherds to worship our King on Christmas Day. Early we shall rise and in the peace and beauty of the church, we shall raise our voices on Christmas morn in our hymn of praise, "Joy to the World, the Lord is come, Let earth receive her King."

These are the gifts we will bring to Jesus on His birthday. But as we ponder them we know that there is something more we must do, some gift we must present to Him that perhaps we have held back. And with the clearness of the angel voices that night in Judea, we hear Him say, "Give me your heart." Now we have the key that will open the door to the true meaning of Christmas. Thus, with humble hearts we who are Under The Steeple bow our heads in grateful adoration and rededicate our lives to the Savior, "who is Christ the Lord". And we pray that He who is the Prince of peace may abide in your hearts to bring you new joy this Christmas and in all the years ahead.

ing room, the switch is thrown and the lights on the tree are turned on as the whole group sings "Silent Night, Holy Night". A prayer is offered for the Barium family and the recipient of the offering. Thus, another of the grand traditions of the Home continues to inspire and thrill the family at Christmastime.

feel like members of our big family.

Since you heard from us last we've been attending our new Church and now that we have the pipe organ we are never lost as to what time it is. We all enjoy the chimes so much and also the Christmas Carols we'll been hearing from now until the New Year.

We're wishing to everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

—Nellie Sellers.

Baby Cottage

Since the last time you heard from us we have gotten three new people over here. Mike Lockamy, a four-year old boy, Mary Dela Hyde, a five-year old girl, and Betty Edwards, a big girl.

Today a group of women from Charlotte came to see us. They brought Christmas presents with them and you should have seen the children when they opened them. There were building blocks, cars, trucks, dolls, and all sorts of toys.

We got report cards last month but only two boys and one big girl made the honor roll. None of the cards were really bad though.

The baby girls are anxiously waiting for a rainy day. They have new rain coats and caps given by the Primary Department and teachers of Caldwell Memorial Presbyterian Church of Charlotte.

One day we were sending one of the little boys after someone to come over to Baby Cottage. When we asked him what time we wanted the person to come to be sure he knew, he said, "little minutes to five."

Now we wish you all a Merry Christmas since its "little minutes" to Christmas.

—Edna Evans.

Howard Cottage

Since the last time our news came out, we have had quite a few happenings around Howard Cottage.

First of all, we have two new girls. They are Sue and Elva Medlin. Linda Sue is in the 3rd grade and Elva is in the seventh. We all like them very much.

We had a nice Thanksgiving, too. We enjoyed playing basketball in the gym.

Another happy occasion was last Monday. Elva celebrated her 12th birthday. We gave her a surprise party, and we mean she was surprised, too

We weren't very happy over our report cards last week. There were only three who made the honor roll. They are: Linda Sue Medlin, Joyce Ann Hughes, and Vicki Brafford. We hope more of us will make it next time.

See you next month,

"The Bean Stringers"

Annie Louise

Our housemother got stung by a bee this morning. (We thought they were all gone.) She put Sloan's Liniment on it and it hasn't hurt at all.

We saw a movie called "It's Always Fair Weather". It was a very good movie. The girls argued over who cried the most.

We have added a new member to our family here at Annie Louise. She is Sylvia Ann Taylor from Huntersville.

Three girls got there Testament and a dollar for reciting the Catechism. They are: Judith Rutledge, Elsie Rannells, and Lois Allen.

Most of our girls have been singing "I'm Gettin' Nutton for Christmas". One girl sings it "I'm Gettin' Something for Christmas". Our singers are getting together and making a Christmas program.

We were just wondering if Santa Claus was going to
